TENANTS IN PANIC

Hundreds of Lives Endangered by a New York Fire.

PROPERTY LOSS OF $400,000

Police Have Hard Time in Controlling Hundreds of Frenzied Persons, Most of Whom Were Foreigners—Large Number of Cars Burned.

New York, Oct. 10.—Hundreds of lives were endangered, thousands of persons were thrown into a panic, 125 electric cars were destroyed and a property loss to the extent of $400,000 was cause dby a fire in the Fourteenth street car barns early Wednesday morning.

The fire had gained great headway before it was discovered, and when the firemen arrived the walls separating the big structures from adjoining tenement houses, were smoking hot.

Instantly word was given to clear the tenements and the occupants poured out into the streets in a panic. From that time on the police were as busy attempting to control the frenzied hundreds, most of whom were foreigners, as the firemen were in fighting the blaze, which was gaining headway with startling rapidity.

It was not until several priests, attired in their robes, appeared on the scene and walked through the surging crowd imploring the people to calm themselves, that anything like order was restored.

The firemen working on the fourth floor of the car barn barely escaped when the floor above them came down with a crash.

A few minutes later the Fourteenth street wall of the building collapsed. From that time on it was merely a question of drowning out the flames in the barn and several adjoining tenements which had caught fire.

HER IDENTITY REVEALED.

Woman Died of Alcoholism in a Chicago Hospital.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The identity of a woman who died at St. Bernards hospital on Sunday has been revealed.

She is now known to have been Mrs. Anna P. Maltman, the divorced wife of a brother of James Maltman, a Chicago real estate dealer.

The woman died of alcoholism. Her home was in Indianolis. Her name is reported to the coroner as Anna Manala, of Indianapolis.

The woman craved liquor and finally her husband, heartbroken, went to Porto Rico.

PETITION FOR ELECTION.

Effort Will Be Made to Put Whisky Out of Montgomery.

Montbomery, Ala., Oct. 10.—Petitions for an election on the elimination of whiskey from Montgomery county are being circulated.

A majority of the qualified voters are required to bring the call for an election. Enthusiasm is high, and the prospect is that seventy-five per cent of the men will sign.

A Late New York Fad.

New York, Oct. 10.—Canes and swagger sticks for young women are the latest fad here. Several of the feminine exponents of the idea have been seen in Fifth avenue carrying slender canes. The new walking sticks are not more than half an inch in diameter, well polished and without much ornament. It is stated that it is considered proper to carry such canes as these with tailor made suits with short skirts, and those who have them are not supposed to bear even a purse or a pocketbook.

Judge After Alleged Bribers.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 10.—Judge William H. Thomas, of the city court, charged the grand jury Monday that all allegations of bribery recently made should be investigated. This is supposed to grow out of charges made that a young lawyer and his brother aided in getting out of the state witnesses in the case of Frank Caffey, a negro doctor, charged with malpractice.

STOLE CHURCH RELICS.

Land Office Business Done by Agent of French Millionaires.

Paris, France, Oct 10.—Considerable sensation has been caused by the remarkable confession of Antone Thomas, of Clermont-Feran, who was arrester, with his mother and sister, charged with complicity in the theft of the famous cope of Orth, which belonged to the state, and was valued at $120,000, from the Church of Ambazac, near Limoges.

For months precious relics have been disappearing from churches, creating the impression that a gang of thieves were systematically at work. Thomas, who gave himself up to clear his mother and sister, now asserts that this theory is correct. He declares that after the passage of the church and state separation law and the taking of the church inventories began, antiquaries of Paris, some of whom are millionaires, hired him and others to go through the country and bribe the parish priests to surrender the relics and substitute counterfeits, which could be turned over to the state.

He says this plan of operation continued for months, but as many of the most valuable church treasures could not be counterfeited, he finally went boldly into the business of wholesale burglary. Thomas estimated the amount of his robberies at $400,000.

The cope of Orth belonged to the Order of Grammont, or Grammontains, whose monastery was situated at Muret, near Limonges. It disappeared during the French revolution, when the order was dissolved, and later turned up in the Church of Ambazac, from which it was stolen. Thomas says he sold it to an antiquary of London for $10,000. He further declares that the antiquaries of Paris get rid of their "plunder" in England and America, and announced his intention to make a clean breast of it.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING.

Man Ran Through Car and Shoots Another Who Was Sleeping.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10.—Andrew Green, of New York city, was the victim of a mysterious shooting Tuesday night in the Wabash railroad yards. He was in the smoker of an eastbound passenger train which was being switched to the car ferry, when a stranger, apparently about 25 years of age, ran through the car and shot the New York man as he slept in his seat. The man jumped from the train and escaped before the other passengers could realize what had occurred.

At the hospital it was found that the bullet struck Mr. Green in the wrist and in the thigh. The wound while serious, is not regarded as a dangerous one.

Mr. Green said he knew of no enemies and had no suspicion of the identity of his assailant.

WEDS A FORMER CONVICT.

Unwavering Devotion of Wealthy Woman of Worcester, Mass.

Worcester, Mass., Oct 10.—Miss Clara Leach, a wealthy woman of this city, has just been wedded to John W. Mahr, a former convict, in St. Johns church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Thomas Griffin.

The romance behind the wedding involves the unwavering devotion of a woman of rank for a business man whom she loved despite the disgrace following his arrest, indictment for larceny and incarceration for nearly four years in jail.

Turner Found Guilty.

Chattanooga, Tenn. Oct. 10—The jury in the case of Ed Turner, of Breathitt county, Kentucky, charged with the murder of his wife on the side of Lookout mountain by cutting her throat, in April last, brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree, after being out only a few minutes Tuesday. On the stand Turner confessed to the murder. He showed no interest in the verdict.

Suicided to Escape Operation.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 10—Fearing to undergo a second operation for appendicitis, A. E. Butler, aged 45, and single, shot and killed himself at the Shadyside Apartments, in East End, a suburb of this city.

STANDARD OIL CASE

Believed Pending Investigation Will Have Wide Scope.

MAY INVOLVE SHIP LINES

Railroad Magnate Says Five Steamship Lines Have Made Discriminations in Rates in Favor of Standard Oil Company.

New York, Oct. 10—The Journal of Commerce says that the shipping trade here is greatly interested and somewhat concerned at the turn taken by the federal inquiry into the operations of the Standard Oil company, which may lead to an investigation by the bureau of corporations of the relations of the steamship lines with corporations engaged in heavy export business. This is expected to follow the evidence given by Philip Harrison, manager of the New York Lubricating Oil company.

Mr. Harrison charged that five steamship lines had made discriminations in rates in favor of the Standard Oil company until the firm was forced to pay more than twice as much as the trust for the transportation of oil. By reason of this his company was practically forced from the South African territory.

ROMANCE ENDS IN COURT.

Arrested Groom Takes Out Habeas Corpus to Recover His Bride.

Tifton, Ga., Oct. 10.—Mr. Bower, a young man who is a clerk for the Edgewood Fruit company, of this place, eloped with Miss Squires, a pretty 14-year-old girl of Vanceville, and they were married Monday night. The young girl was on a visit to this place and while here was met and won by Mr. Bower. The marriage was performed at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. Squires, father of the bride, heard of the marriage, an hour later, and securing his shotgun, it is said, he sought out the young couple. He had the groom arrested and took his daughter home.

The groom retaliated with habeas corpus proceedings to recover his bride, and so the romance is now in court.

SOFT YARN SPINNERS.

Association Holds Meeting in Atlanta at Piedmont Hotel.

Atlanta, Oct. 10.—A meeting of the Southern Soft Yarn Spinners' association was held at the Piedmont hotel at 1 o'clock Tuesday. It was the largest meeting of soft yarn spinners of the south ever held.

Of the 300,000 spindles in the association, more than 254,000 spindles were represented, 27 of the 36 mills in the association having representatives at the meeting.

The condition of the yarn market, cotton market, cancellations, orders, waste, curtailment, labor, and other matters of importance to the southern yarn spinners were fully discussed in a meeting lasting more than four hours of continuous session.

Conductor Dies of Wound.

Anniston, Ala., Oct. 10.—Frank Knighton, aged 21, died Tuesday from a shot received at midnight Monday, when held up, robbed and shot by two masked men at the terminal of the car line. Knighton was conductor and was changing the trolley, when the men stepped out and presented guns. The robbers got only a small amount. An effort to trace the robbers with bloodhounds as fruitless. The motorman was at the other end of the car in darkness while the men held up Knighton.

Captain and Crew Rescued.

Kingston, Jamaica, Oct. 10.—The captain and crew of the barkentine Ada Morell have arrived here on board the steamer Admiral Dewey. They were taken from their ship last Thursday, the Morell having been wrecked and water-logged while going from Salem to Philadelphia. The wreck was set on fire by the crew of the Dewey.

PROGRESS OF THE SOUTH.

Each Day Sees Increasing Prosperity for Southern States.

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 10—The Georgia and Alabama Industrial Index says in the issue for this week:

The coming to the south from eleven countries of the old world and from New England of spinners and capitalists, who are attending a cotton conference in Atlanta, Ga., and who will make a tour of the cotton belt, illustrates an inevitable and uninterrupted tendency.

Mills for spinning cotton have been coming and will come in increasing numbers to the south to find their proper and logical places in the midst of cotton fields. In growing volume dollars follow dollars into this section, attracted by the certainly of substantial profit from the development of resources which in their variety and richness are unsurpassed. In Georgia and Alabama this development is little short of wonderful. Week after week new industrial plants are established, municipal improvements projected and upbuilding continues there steadily.

This week there was the formation of a company, composed of Georgia and New England capitalists, with capital stock of $300,000, to build and operate an interurban electric railway 50 miles in length. Another company organized by the same people will build and operate a gas plant, creosoting plant and a plant for the distillation of resin and turpentine. A company organized in an Alabama city during the week will establish an electric lighting and power plant, developing a water-power, build and operate an electric railway, use electricity in mining operations and later will build an ice factory. The definite projection of these enterprises illustrates what is being done every week in Georgia and Alabama.

Blood Poison from Pin Prick.

Eatonton, Ga., Oct. 10.—Lawson Larwence, who entered Mercer university at the recent fall opening to study for the ministry, has had to return home on account of a violent case of blood poisoning, necessitating the amputation of his left arm, which was done immediately. Soon after entering Mercer an ordinary pimple which developed into a boil, appeared on the young man's arm, and he opened it with a common pin. Inflammation set in, and the amputation of the arm was a last resort to save the young student's life.

Woman Found Dead on Floor.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 10.—The remains of Mrs. Dora L. Hagan, wife of F. L. Hagan, member of the fire department of the city of Macon, was found dead upon the floor of her room Tuesday morning, when her husband left his post at the fire department to get his breakfast. She had been suffering from what was termed slight illness for several days and had been sitting up during the night. When she was found her form lay as if it had fallen from the chair when she was suddenly stricken.

Tore Up Company's Tracks.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Peoria says that citizens of Peoria heights, a suburb tore up 100 yards of the tracks of the Peoria Railway company and threats were made of blowing up the company's barns and viaduct. The trouble grew out of a franchise, the citizens being dissatisfied with the terms offered by the company. Thirty deputy marshals are guarding the tracks to prevent the company relaying its rails.

SHOT HIS WIFE DEAD

Columbus, O., Man Then Turned Weapon Upon Himself.

HE WILL PROBABLY NOT LIVE

Because His Wife Was Determined To Push Her Suit for Divorce Fred Butt, a Molder, Kills Her and Then Attempts Suicide.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 10.—Fred Butt, a molder aged 36 years, went to the home of his wife early Wednesday and forcing his way into the house, asked her if she was determined to push her suit for divorce. She said yes, and he grabbed her and tried to force carbolic acid into her mouth, burning the flesh about the lips.

Failing in this he shot her dead and then turned the weapon upon himself and put a bullet in his body.

Failing to kill himself, he swallowed an ounce of carbolic acid and is dying at the hospital.

MARRIED HIS GRANDMOTHER.

Queer Combination of Circumstances In Matrimonial Line.

Chicago, Oct. 10—A dispatch to the Record Herald from San Francisco says:

Tom Allison, of Manlius, N. Y., who married his grandmother, is here on his honeymoon.

"My grandfather, Dr. Buffum, of Rochester, was a peppery old fellow," said he. "First he disinherited my sister because she married a barber. This left me his sole heir. He decided to marry, although he was past eighty, to keep me from inheriting the estate. I didn't know it, but the girl he picked out was my sweetheart, only 17 years of age. She decided to accept, to save the estate for me. That was nearly six years ago. He died a year ago and the young woman whom I called grandmother became my wife."

PROHI EFFORTS TAKING SHAPE

Looks Like Alabama Will Pass a Prohibition Law.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 10. Following a big revival, a movement is taking shape to put the state in the prohibition column.

A great rally is to be held Thursday night, at which a movement to put this and other counties out of the selling column will be launched.

Several counties have called elections and all report certainty of voting against whisky. The movement for state prohibition has grown so strong that it seems certain that an extra session of the legislature will pass a prohibition law.

Murder Trial at Zebulon.

Zebulon, Ga., Oct. 10.—The October term of Pike superior court convened Tuesday, with Judge Reagan presiding and Solicitor Hayworth representing the state. The grand jury was organized by the selection of T. W. Cochran, of Barnesville, as foreman. The court is pushing civil business this week and next week the criminal docket will be called. There are several persons in jail, among them one charged with murder. Court will probably reach the civil docket next Friday.

Hotel Burned at Luverne.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 10. The Hawkins and proprietor of the Hawkins hotel at Luverne, Ala., barely escaped with their lives at 1 o'clock Monday morning when the building was destroyed by fire. This is the third hotel fire in Luverne in six months. The first almost destroyed one-sixth of the town and the second practically destroyed the best of the other side.

FOR SELLING BOOZE LAWSON IN PRISON

Arrested by Officer Burch in Tampa, After a Hard Chase.

FAILED TO GIVE REQUIRED BOND

Was Arraigned in Justice Smith's Court at Micanopy, and in Default of $500 Bail Will Have to Await Action of the Coming Grand Jury.

William Lawson, colored, charged with selling liquor without a license in violation of the laws of Alachua county, is behind the bars of the county jail, having been arrested after a vigorous and successful chase to Tampa by Deputy Sheriff Wm. Burch of Tacoma, who brought his man to Gainesville Thursday.

Officer Burch stated that the man had been reported to him, and that he went to Evinston, where it is said he was running a "blind tiger," to make the arrest. Lawson evidently caught on to the fact that the officers were after him, as when Officer Burch arrived he ascertained that the man had left the village. Determined upon his game, Officer Burch set out after Lawson, with the result that he traced him to Tampa, finally locating him in that city and placing him under arrest.

Lawson was brought back to Alachua county, and was arraigned before Justice Smith of Micanopy, who placed him under a bond of $500 for his appearance at the next session of the circuit court, which will convene in this city in November. In default of the bond, he was brought here and placed in jail.

WELL IS COMPLETED.

There is No Reason Why City Should be Short of Water in Future.

The well at the plant of the Gainesville water works, which has been under course of sinking for the past few weeks, has been completed, and has been accepted by the water committee of the City Council, who examined the same thoroughly Wednesday morning.

The well, which is twelve inches in diameter, is 194 feet deep, with a stand of pure, crystal water of 162 feet, making it necessary to pump the water an elevation of thirty-two feet. A thorough test developed the fact that the well yielded from 600 to 1,000 gallons per minute with ease.

Superintendent Miller of the water works states that it will be three or four months before the necessary machinery can be secured and placed in position, hence the well supply cannot be used until that time.

THE OPERA SEASON WILL BE A GOOD ONE

Only the Best Attractions Will be Accepted Here in Future.

LAYTON JOINS THE SOCIETY

Manager of the Gainesville Opera House Determined in Future to Rid Gainesville of Cheap Attractions, and Every Production Guaranteed.

The theatrical season in Gainesville, notwithstanding that it will open a little later than usual, promises to be a good one, and all attractions booked for the coming season are promised to be first-class in every respect. Some of the best small traveling companies on the road have been booked, with the result that theater-goers of Gainesville may at least feel assured that what they do see will be worth the tariff of admission.

Manager C. R. Layton, who has the opera house in charge, stated Thursday to a Sun reporter that he had joined the Bureau of Theatrical Information, through the source of which he will be enabled to secure advance reports on all attractions, and he proposes to eliminate all shows during the coming season which are not absolutely up to the standard of excellence and efficiency. "Gainesville has got to become quite a town now," remarked Major Layton, "and our people deserve nothing but good attractions, for the patronage is sufficient to warrant it. I will look after this list and the reports personally, and can assure the patrons of the Gainesville theater that they will receive nothing but the best attractions.

"As a matter of course," continued Manager Layton, "we cannot expect the big spectacular productions, because we have no room on our stage to take care of them; but we can have the satisfaction of witnessing real talent in its minor form, where scenery which our stage will accommodate can be presented; but it is not so much the scenery as the talent that the refined people like ours are looking for; we want talent, and we are going to have it the coming season."

The season will begin this year, so far as the companies yet booked are concerned, with some open date in November by the Wills Musical Comedy Company. This company, which visited three or four of the important points in the State last year, included Gainesville in its itinerary, and delighted those who attended the theater with its clever work. This aggregation will no doubt meet with fine success this year, especially since it will be the opening bill, as far as the booking goes now.

The old favorites, the Barlow Minstrels, are booked to appear here on December 7. The Barlow Minstrels are so well known to even the smallest child in Gainesville that merely mention of the name is all that is necessary. They come bigger and better than ever this year, with everything modern in the minstrel world.

The King Dramatic Company, who are among the best of the repertoire companies of the country, are billed for three nights, December 16, 17 and 18. This company has played here before and, though limited in number of the caste, gave excellent satisfaction. They handle plays of a nature which they can put on the stage with best results, as was demonstrated upon their former visit here, and it is needless to state that they will please their audiences. Chas. King as an actor of light comedies and drama, has no peer in this section of the country, and has made himself quite popular in the dramatic field. His support, the majority of whom are members of his family, are all that could be asked.

The old favorite, the Beggar Prince Opera Company, who have delighted theater-goers in Gainesville for the last three consecutive seasons, will come again, and are billed for December 31, and January 1 and 2. This aggregation, which has two of as fine comedians as ever came South, will delight the patrons of the opera house for three nights. This company presented last season The Beggar Prince, Olivette and the Mascotte to crowded houses, and there was no objection to make by those who witnessed these performances.

The Dixie Minstrels will appear on February 1. This aggregation, which is composed of colored performers, is not known here, but the report to

ALL DRUGGISTS; 50c. AND $1.00.

Manager Layton states that the company is all right, and that they are playing in the best houses in the country to audiences that seem to be pleased.

"Along the Kennebec" will strike Gainesville on February 5. This is a play intensely interesting, and, being the first time ever presented here, will likely draw a big house. The play is being presented by a strong company.

"A Jolly Man's Troubles" is billed for February 20, which ends the booking so far for the season, although others may book later.

THE CITY DIRECTORY.

Work Progressing Slowly But Well. Will Be Out in Three Weeks.

The compiler of the City Directory, who has been working steadily and faithfully for the past six weeks, announces that he is making slow but accurate progress. Three-fourths of the city has been covered, and it is hoped that the last quarter of territory can be covered within the next ten days.

There will be many new items of interest in the directory for 1907-8. For instance, the book will be rearranged from the current number, so that anyone may ascertain at a glance of the name just the location as regards points of the compass the person desired may be found, thus enabling a perfect stranger, by the key, to find any given residence by simply following the directions, without any trouble.

The new book will contain several pages of entirely new illustrations of the city, which have been secured at considerable expense. The book will be an expensive one, but the publisher is determined, as he has always done, to give the people of Gainesville the very best there is in this class of work, regardless of the expense attached to the issuing of the book.

HUFFMAN—NEVILLE.

Marriage of Popular Young Couple On Thursday.

A quiet but happy wedding was solmenized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Moseley Thursday, the contracting parties being Roy E. Huffman and Miss Maude Neville, both well known and popular young people of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Nixon of the First Methodist church, in the presence of a few intimate friends.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Huffman left for Tampa, where they will remain for a week or ten days.

Mr. Huffman is one of the valued employes of the Baird Hardware Company, and has many friends here. The bride is also quite popular, having spent the greater part of her life in Gainesville.

Books Bound In Lead.

A bookbinder was putting a binding of lead on a book.

"Why lead?" a visitor asked.

"This," the binder answered, "is a naval code book for use on a battleship. All such volumes are bound in lead."

"But why?"

"So that in the event of the ship's destruction the books will sink with it, for they contain secrets of immense value, and every precaution must be taken to keep those secrets dark."

WILL CHANGE ROAD LINE.

County Commissioners Cut Out Where Charge Was Asked.

At the last meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, which was a called meeting to receive the tax books and for the transaction of any other business of special importance which might be called before the board, the matter of changing the route of the proposed public road from Gainesville was considered and acted upon, tne original route being abandoned on account of the owner of certain property through which the proposed road was to run wanting to exact the sum of $250 for a right-of-way.

At this meeting a petition was presented requesting that the change of route be made, and assuring the Commissioners that no charge would be made for any right-of-way, and that all the material necessary for the building of the road would be furnished without cost to the county.

Acting under the advice of this petition, the Commissioners appointed a committee to view and mark out the proposed new route, which will be presented and accepted at the next meeting. The route as proposed only makes a difference of about a quarter of a mile, hence the party who refused the right-of-way without compensation will not profit thereby.

LEARN TO EAT.

Few People in Gainesville Really Know How.

Slow eating will solve one-half the problem of ill health. Those who suffer already with indigestion and weak stomach can with care and the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets restore their digestion to a healthy condition, so that they can eat what they want at any time without fear of distress or suffering.

After a few days' use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets, the headache, dizzy feeling, drowsiness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, nervousness, sleeplessness, distress after eating—all these symptoms of a weak stomach—will disappear, and perfect digestion and a good skin will show that the vital machinery is once more running smoothly.

Take a little Mi-o-na tablet before each meal so that it will stimulate the digestive juices and give strength to the stomach, and then it will take care of the food that is eaten, without indigestion and the unpleasant dull feeling with which so many suffer after meals.

J. W. McCollum & Co. have so much confidence in the power of Mi-o-na to cure indigestion and all stomach ills that they give a guarantee with every 50-cent box to refund the money if the remedy fails to give satisfaction

Tied in First Game of Series.

Chicago, Ills, Oct. 10.—Detroit and Chicago, leaders of the American and National leagues, respectively, played twelve strenuous innings to a tie here Tuesday, in the first game of the series for the baseball championship of the world. The contest was replete with sensational situations, and when Umpire O'Day, of the National league, called the play off on account of darkness, most of the 23,377 spectators sighed with relief, and went home well satisfied with the outcome.

THE PERFECT WAY

Scores of Florida Citizens Have Learned It.

If you suffer from backache, there is only one way to cure it.

The perfect way is to cure the kidneys.

A bad back means sick kidneys.

Neglect it, urinary troubles follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills are made for kidneys only.

S. B. Lemons, cigar maker, living at 1311 Ashlet street, Tampa, Fla., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of backache and disorder of the kidneys. Two or three times on account of the pain in my back I was unable to work for several days. The secretions of the kidneys were in a very bad condition, dark in color, and if allowed to stand would become of the consistency of jelly. I tried various remedies, taking what seemed like gallons of medicine and I also put on plasters, but nothing helped me at all until I got Doan's Kidney Pills upon the advice of a friend of mine, and using them according to directions they cured me in a very short time."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Letter Carriers' Convention.

Atlanta, Oct. 10—Rural Free Delivery Carriers' association of the United States convened in annual session on Tuesday in the senate chamber at the statehouse, with a large attendance, only four of five states of the union failing to respond to the roll call. Ohio, with the largest delegation on the association's roster, responded with eight members when the committee on credentials began its canvass, while Idaho, South Dakota, Washington and some of the newer western states carried a single delegate each. From one delegate to eight the list ran. The delegates were given a cordial welcome and addresses were made by many Atlantans. The convention was an important one.

Eleven Bridal Couples Sail.

New York, Oct. 10.—The new steamship City of Savannah, the latest addition to the fleet of the Ocean Steamship company to run between New York and Savannah, left her North river pier shortly after 3 p. m. Tuesday for her maiden trip to Savannah, where she is scheduled to arrive at 6 a. m. Friday. She carried a full complement of passengers, including a number of transportation officials and newspaper men. Eleven bridal couples were on board. The citizens of Savannah are planning to give a rousing welcome to the new steamship at its arrival at that port.

Infernal Machines Sent.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 10.—Governor Henry A. Buchtel, David H. Moffart, president of the First National bank of Denver, and Charles B. Hountze, president of the Colorado National bank, received, through the mails, infernal machines containing sufficient dynamite to have caused great destruction of lives and property, had they been exploded; but warning had been given to the recipients of the machines by Chief of Police Delaney, who had obtained a confession from Kemp V. Bigelow, by whom they were mailed, and no one was hurt.

"Drys" Win at Asheville, N. C.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 10—After a brief but strenuous campaign the prohibitionists carried the liquor election in this city Tuesday by a majority of 848. A material factor in the result was the presence at the polls of women and children, who sang and prayed and served luncheon. Asheville will be dry after January 1, 1908.

CHARGES AGAINST HARTFORD CO.

Claimed It Used Inferior Paper for Stamped Envelopes and Wrappers.

Washington, Oct. 10—Charges that the government has been mulcted out of large sums in the contract for supplying stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers sold at the postoffices have been submitted to Attorney General Bonaparte by Postmaster-General Meyer, with a request that the attorney-general take action to recover the money alleged to be due the government and to institute criminal proceedings should he determine that there was enough evidence to warrant such a course.

The allegations of the postmaster-general are directed against the Hartford Manufacturing company of Hartford, Conn., which up to July 1 last supplied the stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers to the postoffice department.

If Washington Were There.

Two prominent society women of Washington were seated in the gallery reserved for the families of congressmen.

"What a grand body of men!" exclaimed the younger of the two enthusiastically.

"Do you think so?" asked the other demurely.

"Why, of course, I do. See how alert and businesslike they are. I am sure if George Washington could come back to congress he would be proud of such a dazzling spectacle."

"I fear, dear," remarked the elder of the two seriously, "that if George Washington were to come back and see congress he would lose no time in delivering another farewell address."—Lippincott's.

Early Use of Tobacco.

I have heard my grandfather say that one pipe was handed from man to man round about the table. They had first silver pipes; the ordinary sort made use of a walnut shell and a straw. Tobacco was sold then for its weight in silver. I have heard some of our old yeomen neighbors say that when they went to Malmesbury or Chippenham market they culled out their biggest shillings to lay in the scales against the tobacco. Sir W. R., standing in a stand at Sir Robert Poyntz's park at Acton, took a pipe of tobacco, which made the ladies quit it until he had done.—"Brief Lines Set Down by John Aubrey," 1669-96.

Two Acre Farms.

In Belgium a two acre holding is sufficient to maintain a farmer and his family. The typical two acre farm in that country contains a patch of wheat or rye and another of barley. Another fair portion grows potatoes. A row of cabbage grows all round on the sloping sides of the ditches, with a row of onions just outside, leaving bare walking room between them and the grain. The shade trees round the house are pear trees. Every foot of land is made to produce, and the farmer keeps pigs and chickens.

Turned Down.

"Beg pardon, sir," said the waiter, with outstretched palm, "but 'aven't you forgotten something?"

"No," replied the departing guest, "but I'm trying to forget it. Good day."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Ring in His Speech.

Edyth—You ought to have heard Mr. Huggins' ringing speech last night. May—Why, I wasn't aware that he could make a speech. Edyth—Well, I can't repeat the speech, but I can show you the ring.—Westminster Gazette.

Too True.

After our landlord had pocketed the $30 which we pay monthly for our little apartment he blushed painfully.

"Why do you color so?" I asked.

"Because I have a rent in my trousers," he murmured.—Exchange.

Getting Square.

He—I'm going to bring Jolt home with me to dinner tonight. She—Oh, mercy, dear, don't! It's the cook's day out, and I'll have to cook dinner. He—Never mind; I owe Jolt one, anyway!—Yonkers Statesman.

His Narrow Escape.

A jolly old steamboat captain with more girth than height was asked if he had ever had any very narrow escapes.

"Yes," he replied, his eyes twinkling, "once I fell off my boat at the mouth of Bear creek, and, although I'm an expert swimmer, I guess I'd be there now if it hadn't been for my crew. You see, the water was just deep enough so's to be over my head when I tried to wade out, and just shallow enough"—he gave his body an explanatory pat—"so that whenever I tried to swim out I dragged bottom."—Everybody's.

Horrible Example.

"My dear," said Mrs. Strongmind, "I want you to accompany me to the town hall tomorrow evening."

"What for?" queried the meek and lowly other half of the combine.

"I am to lecture on the 'Dark Side of Married Life,'" explained Mrs. S., "and I want you to sit on the platform and pose as one of the illustrations."—Chicago News.

A Financial Pessimist.

Gaye—Yes, he is what you might term a financial pessimist. Myers—What's a financial pessimist? Gaye—A man who is afraid to look pleasant for fear his friends will want to borrow something.

A FACT PROVEN.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

Nowhere is there a city reckoned more heartless than New York, yet, strange to say, it is exactly here that the call of a little child in distress is soon heard. There is an army of social-service workers listening and fine buildings for housing the waif, says The Delineator for October. The municipality itself that is charged with being hard and cold and gay takes time from its pursuits of commerce and pleasure to minister to the children. Nearly nineteen thousand of them are maintained in some thirty institutions at public expense with an annual municipal board of over two million three hundred thousand dollars. Besides, there are others supported altogether by charity. So that there are probably twenty-five thousand homeless children in New York.

The Mexican National railroad is to be extended from Durango to the Pacific Coast, and will pass through the heart of an immense timber tract. This railroad is part of the system now administered by the government, which has acquired a majority of the stock. It is to be hoped that the government will follow up this move by taking control of the forests and administering them scientifically. Many Americans hope for relief from lumber scarcity in the United States by importations from Canada and Mexico; but this relief can be only temporary, unless these countries also will conserve their forests in a scientific manner. It is to be hoped they will do this, rather than allow American investors to devour them hastily.

We like to see a discussion started like that one The Gainesville Sun began by a description of a fearful "bug" known as the "grampus." The amount of misinformation some of the State editors can give out about objects which may be found in the fields and woods of Florida is amusing. We had thought everyone who had lived long in the State knew of that member of the scorpion family which has the purely local name of "grampus." By some it is feared but most observant persons know that its dangerous qualities are entirely imaginary.—Times-Union.

Hon. W. M. Holloway, State superintendent of public schools, in a personal letter to the editor of The Sun, says "the public schools are opening up better than ever before, and the outlook for a successful term throughout the State is very good indeed, notwithstanding the scarcity of teachers."

Congressman Frank Clark's present position on the prohibition question, unlike that of some other public men, is not open to criticism. He labored zealously to carry Polk county dry twenty-two years ago, and has always been consistent regarding this great moral question.

The Tampa Tribune, South Florida's leading daily newspaper, continues to grow brighter with each issue. Even libel suits fail to deter Editor Stovall in his successful efforts to add lustre to The Tribune.

BUSHNELL'S TURTLE.

Career of the First American Submarine Vessel.

IT WAS A MOST UNIQUE CRAFT

Launched In 1775, It Made Several Frantic Efforts to Blow Up British Warships and Nearly Succeeded—Its Untimely Fate.

The first submarine craft which really navigated under serious conditions was the invention of an American, Daniel Bushnell of Saybrook, Conn.

Bushnell was graduated from Yale in 1775 and in that same year completed the submarine vessel on which he had been at work since 1771. He does not seem to have named the boat himself, but it has come to be known as the Turtle because of its shape.

The entrance to the vessel corresponded to the opening made by the swells of a turtle shell at its head. The boat was about seven and a half feet long and six feet deep, large enough to contain the operator and sufficient air to last him half an hour.

It was ballasted chiefly with permanent lead ballast. In addition to this, a mass of lead 200 pounds in weight could be let down forty or fifty feet below the vessel, enabling the operator to anchor or to rise quickly to the surface in case of accident.

A water gauge illuminated by means of a cork with phosphorus on it, which floated on the water within the gauge, registered the depth of the Turtle. By means of a compass, also illuminated with phosphorus, the operator was able to direct the course of his vessel.

An oar formed on the principle of an old fashioned screw was fixed in the forward part of the Turtle. The operator by turning it in one direction could propel the vessel forward or in the other could propel it backward.

Another oar, placed near the top of the Turtle, worked on the same principle. By means of the latter the operator, after having established the equilibrium of the vessel, could move it either upward or downward. A rudder in the after part of the Turtle could be used for sculling.

The entrance to the boat was elliptical and so small as to barely admit one person. It was surrounded by a broad elliptical iron band, the lower edge of which was let into the wood. Above the upper edge of this iron band was a crown resembling a hat. It shut water tight upon the iron band, to which it was hung with hinges, turning over sideways when opened.

In the crown were three round doors, one directly in front and one on each side, and large enough to put the hand through. These, when opened, admitted fresh air. Their shutters were ground perfectly tight and were hung with hinges. There were several glass windows in the crown for the admission of light and two air pipes.

A ventilator drew fresh air through one of the pipes and discharged it at the bottom of the vessel. The impure air escaped through the other pipe. These, of course, were used only when the Turtle was floating on the surface of the water. The valves opened automatically when they came out of the water and closed as soon as they entered it.

When the operator wished to descend he placed his foot on the lever of the valve, by which means he opened a large aperture in the bottom of the vessel, thereby allowing the water to enter the tank. When a sufficient quantity had been obtained to cause the vessel to descend very gradually he closed the valve. The aperture under this valve was covered by a perforated plate.

The water could be discharged from the tank by the brass force pump. When the vessel leaked the bilge could be pumped out by a similar pump. Everything in the Turtle was brought so near the operator that he could find in the dark what he wished and without turning either to the right or to the left. A firm piece of wood was framed parallel to the short diameter of the vessel to prevent the sides from yielding. This also served as a seat for the operator.

In the fore part of the brim of the brass crown was a socket with an iron tube passing through it. At the top of the tube was a wood screw fixed by means of a rod which passed through the tube. When the wood screw had been made fast to some object it could be cast off by unscrewing the rod. Behind the vessel and above the rudder was attached a magazine composed of two blocks of oak wood, hollowed out so as to hold 150 pounds of powder. This was fired by a percussion device, timed by means of clockwork. A rope extended from the magazine to the wood screw.

To destroy a ship the operator was to submerge the Turtle, navigate it until it was underneath the ship that was to be destroyed, screw the wood screw into her bottom, cast off the magazine and move away. The magazine, being buoyant, would immediately rise against the bottom of the ship. The clockwork which fired it was started by the casting off of the magazine and gave the operator time to retire to a safe distance.

Bushnell made many trials of the Turtle before sending it against a British vessel. He found it very difficult to obtain a skillful operator. In respect to this part of his work he wrote as follows:

"In the first essay with the submarine vessel I took care to prove its strength to sustain the great pressure of the incumbent water when sunk deep before I trusted any person to descend much below the surface, and I never suffered any person to go under water without having a strong piece of rigging made fast to it until I found him well acquainted with the operations necessary for his safety.

"After that I made him descend and continue at particular depths without rising or sinking, row by the compass, approach a vessel, go under her and fix the wood screw into her bottom until I thought him sufficiently expert to put my design into operation.

"I found, agreeable to my expectations, that it required many trials to make a person of common ingenuity a skillful operator. The first I employed was very ingenious, but was taken sick in the campaign of 1776 at New York before he had an opportunity to make use of his skill and never recovered his health sufficiently afterward."

In the summer of 1776, when Admiral Howe lay with a formidable British fleet in New York bay, a little below the Narrows, Bushnell attempted to destroy one of his ships, the Eagle, of sixty-four guns. The operator whom the inventor selected to make the experiment was Sergeant Ezra Lee.

He had had little experience with the Turtle and was therefore inexpert. Lee, however, successfully navigated the Turtle under the Eagle. He attempted to fix the wooden screw into her bottom, but struck, as he supposed, a bar of iron which passed from the rudder hinge and was spiked under the ship's quarter.

Bushnell said that had Lee "moved a few inches, which he might have done without rowing, I have no doubt but he would have found wood where he might have fixed the screw, or if the ship were sheathed with copper he might easily have pierced it; but, not being well skilled in the management of the vessel, in attempting to move to another place he lost the ship. After seeking for some time he rowed some distance and rose to the surface of the water, but found daylight had advanced so far that he durst not renew the attempt."

On his return from the Eagle, Lee passed near Governors island, which was then occupied by the British. Being in haste and thinking he was discovered by the enemy, he cast off the magazine, supposing that it retarded his movement. After an hour, the time the mechanism was set to run, the magazine exploded with great violence, to the consternation of the enemy.

Two subsequent attempts were made with the Turtle against the British shipping. In one of these the operator succeeded in getting his vessel underneath a British ship, but the tide ran so strong the Turtle was swept away. Finally the British sunk an American boat which had the Turtle on board.

The inventor afterward recovered his vessel, but did nothing further with it. His health was poor, and he was unable to obtain money and assistance with which to prosecute his experiments.—Navy.

He Wanted Company.

Shortly after 2 o'clock one bitter winter morning a physician drove four miles in answer to a telephone call. On his arrival the man who had summoned him said:

"Doctor, I ain't in any particular pain, but somehow or other I've got a feeling that death is nigh."

The doctor felt the man's pulse and listened to his heart.

"Have you made your will?" he asked finally.

The man turned pale.

"Why, no, doctor. At my age—oh, doc, it ain't true, is it? It can't be true"—

"Who's your lawyer?"

"Higginbotham, but"—

"Then you'd better send for him at once."

The patient, white and trembling, went to the phone.

"Who's your pastor?" continued the doctor.

"The Rev. Kellogg M. Brown," mumbled the patient. "But, doctor, do you think"—

"Send for him immediately. Your father, too, should be summoned; also your"—

"Say, doctor, do you really think I'm going to die?" The man began to blubber softly.

The doctor looked at him hard.

"No, I don't," he replied grimly. "There's nothing at all the matter with you, but I'd hate to be the only man you've made a fool of on a night like this."—Everybody's.

A Rebuff.

"Do you think your father would like me as a son-in-law?"

"Yes, I believe he would."

"Oh, joy! I"—

"Papa and I never agree about anything, you know."

$500,000 FIRE AT PORT LIMON.

Believed that the Fire Was of Incendiary Origin.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 10.—Further details of the recent conflagration at Port Limon, Costa Rica, indicate that the losses aggregate about $500,000. The loss is covered by insurance to the amount of about $150,000, the only American company being the Sun of New York for eight thousand pounds sterling.

It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin and a confession has been secured from a Chinese, Issac Leon, who says that he intended to burn up his stock of goods to obtain insurance money. He employed a negro criminal to do the work, it is charged.

The criminal is also in jail. Both will be held for murder and arson, since three deaths resulted from the blaze. Another reason for the fire was that there were a numbr of dangerous prisoners in the prison of the port whom the negro had conspired to release. A revolt was attempted but failed.

May Order General Strike.

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 10—The Cuban labor organizations at a meeting Tuesday adopted a resolution to order a general strike, calling out all of the unions in the island if the railways employ the strike breakers who landed here from New York. A dispatch has been received from President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor of America, tendering the labor organizations of Cuban the support of the Federation.

Will Demand More Pay.

New York, Oct. 10.—Railway firemen on all Eastern lines according to a statement published are going to demand a further increase in wages in the near future. Railroad officials who have been questioned on the subject say they will not grant the demands and one Erie official is quoted as saying that wages are more likely to go down than up.

Mrs. Chadwick at Death's Door.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Cassie Chadwick's condition is unchanged. She is practically unable to retain nourishment and her condition is admitted to be very serious. She lies in her bed seemingly indifferent to her fate, racked with pain and apparently resigned to and knowing that her end is fast approaching.

Believe Indiana Will Be "Dry."

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—That Indiana will be a "dry" state by 1912, was the prediction made by Rev. E. S. Shoemaker, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, at the meeting of the Methodist Ministers' association. He said that 700,000 in this state now live in "dry" territory, and that the crusade against the saloons is being carried on vigorously.

GIRL BABY'S AWFUL ECZEMA

Sight of Eye Destroyed by Disease—Tried Five Doctors but Grew Worse—In Agony Eight Months—Parents Discouraged, Until They Tried Cuticura Remedies

IN ONE WEEK ALL SORES DISAPPEARED

"Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor said it was. We called in the family doctor and he gave some tablets and said she would be all right in a few days. The eczema grew worse and we called in doctor No. 2. He said she was teething, as soon as the teeth were through she would be all right. But she still grew worse. Doctor No. 3 said it was eczema. By this time she was nothing but a yellow, greenish sore. Well, he said he could help her, so we let him try it about a week. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Of course we 'phoned for doctor No. 3. He came over and looked her over and said that he could not do anything more for her, that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Oswego to doctor No. 4, and he said the eyesight was gone, but that he could help it. We thought we would try doctor No. 5. Well, that proved the same, only he charged $10 more than doctor No. 4. We were nearly discouraged. I saw one of the Cuticura advertisements in the paper and thought we would try the Cuticura Treatment, so I went and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. We think there is no remedy so good for any skin trouble or impurity of the blood as Cuticura. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 17, 1906."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Unconscious Humor.

A class of little folk in an English elementary school were recently asked to define "a lady," with curious results. The definition of Lizzie, aged seven, will strike a responsive chord in the heart of the busy woman and shows that Lizzie must be an observing person. "A lady is something like a man," says Lizzie, "but she's got long hair and she's got a different face and different clothes, and she's got a lot of work to do." Charlie, aged six, is impressed by the difference between the sexes. "A lady" he finds to be "different from a man because a lady has different clothes from a man, a lady has different eyes from a man, a lady has a different body from a man, and a lady has different shoes from a man." Howard, aged seven, gets at the same facts from a different point of view. "A lady," he says, "has not got some trowsers, but a man has got some trowsers." A second Charlie, a year older than the first one, thinks that "a lady is a nice woman because she don't have torn clothes, and she has a wooh with her, and she has a chane on the wooh."

Not a Stranger to Her.

The conductor of the Pullman car had for some time had his eye on the man who seemed to be fishing for an excuse to speak to the lady across the aisle. The passenger finally left his seat and took one beside her, and when they had conversed for a few minutes the lady seemed to be protesting, and the conductor's opportunity had come. He stepped forward and said:

"Madam, if this man is forcing his attentions upon you he must resume his own seat."

"He is not exactly a stranger to me," she admitted.

"But you seemed to be annoyed, madam."

"I am not exactly annoyed, but I wish he wouldn't talk to me."

"I am simply arguing a case," explained the man.

"Yes, but there is nothing to argue. We have been married and divorced twice, and now I've married another man, and we can't be married again until he dies. Give it up, Jimmy—give it up and go back to your seat."—Chicago News.

A Hideous Dream.

I had a horrible dream a few nights ago. I dreamed that I was the sub-editor of a religious weekly. There is nothing dreadful in that, of course. The horrible part comes later. My editor, just off for a holiday—editors generally are, you know—instructed me to write to several people of eminence and ask them to tell me their favorite prayer. (I record this little story in all reverence, you understand.) Well, many of the eminent people replied, including a lady novelist of great fame. The lady wrote:

Dear Sir—In reply to your esteemed favor, I have much pleasure in informing you that my favorite prayer is, "Give us this day our daily bread."

I placed it at the head of the column, put the paper to bed and went there myself, feeling pleased. Next morning when I opened my copy of the religious weekly I found that three letters had been dropped from the lady novelist's favorite prayer, which, to my consternation, now read as follows: "Give us this day our daily ad." I woke up screaming.—Keble Howard in Sketch.

A Dog and His Name.

"There was a dog case which excited much attention in Berlin some years ago," said a former resident of that city. "A citizen complained to the authorities against a neighbor who, he said, to annoy him, gave his name to a mongrel cur. 'He calls my name,' he said, 'and when I turn around he laughs and says he was calling his dog.'

"'What's your name?' asked the magistrate.

"'My name is Schulz.'

"'And do you call the dog Schulz?' he asked the other man.

"'Yes, your honor, but I spell it with a T—Schultz.'

"'Call him without the T,' commanded the magistrate, trying to look serious. The man did so, the dog came to him and an order to change the name or be fined followed."

HOW BONNER WON SUCCESS

The career of Robert Bonner, the veteran publisher, furnishes a signal illustration of the value of persistent and sagacious advertising. When he began the publication of the paper whose phenomenal success brought him fame and fortune, he did not wait for the people to find out, slowly and gradually, the interesting features of his journal.

He forced his enterprise upon public attention by a systematic lavishness of expenditure for advertising which at that time was without precedent or parallel. Whole pages of daily newspapers were secured at high prices to blazon forth the merits of his undertaking.

From one end of the country to the other the names of Bonner and his Ledger were made familiar to the people by constant repetition.

Conservative publishers, jogging along in the ruts of old routine, prophesied bankruptcy and ruin for this unconventional innovator, but Bonner kept on spending a large share of his receipts in buying publicity, and those receipts increased with startling rapidity.

Every dollar disbursed in this way brought in more dollars until croakers were confounded and pessimists in this particular branch of business silenced by his tremendous success.

The lesson is one that is as well worth heeding today as it was forty years ago.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

ABOUT OYSTERS

It's a matter of confidence—confidence in the person selling them. If you know they are handled properly, prepared and cooked cleanly, then you are satisfied.

Oysters require careful attention when away from the coast, and should be prepared by one who knows at a glance if they are fit to be cooked.

For two seasons I have prepared and served you the best Oysters grown, and have never had one complaint.

They are here now—and, as they should be, First-Class in every way.

Open every night till 10:30—later if necessary.

OLD FOLKS

Can Renew Their Strength

While it is impossible for the aged to renew their youth, we want to say to all elderly people in Gainesville that they can renew their strength by taking our delicious cod liver preparation—Vinol.

Vinol, being rich in the elements of life, is an ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks.

Mr. A. J. Barker of Evansville, Ind., says: "There is no other medicine in the world equal to Vinol for elderly people. I would not take a thousand dollars for the good it has done me."

Vinol is not a patent medicine, but a real cod liver preparation made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

Vinol tones up the digestive organs, makes rich red blood, and sound, steady nerves. In this way it repairs worn tissues, checks the natural decline of the aged, builds up the run-down, tired and debilitated, and replaces weakness with strength. We ask every aged or weak person in Gainesville to try Vinol on our offer to refund money if it fails to give satisfaction.—W. M. Johnson, Druggist, Gainesville, Florida.

Among the prominent visitors to Gainesville yesterday was Frank A. Teague of Ocala, who was called here on business. Mr. Teague states that Ocala and its citizens are prosperous, and that his section of the country is enjoying a fine season just now.

The flower gardens and lawns about the city are looking fine now, despite the rains of the past few days, which have been very heavy. The flower garden of E. Baird, North Pleasant street, is especially pretty at this season. Mrs. Baird has an effusion of handsome roses of every variety, which could not help but prove interesting to those who love flowers.

Friends of Miss Lila Fraser, the Arredondo school teacher who was operated upon for appendicitis at the Odd Fellows' Home on Wednesday afternoon, will be glad to learn that the young lady is getting along nicely, and the chances are she will be out in a few days. The good people of Arredondo, patrons of the school, were so anxious regarding her condition that they sent a messenger to Gainesville yesterday to ascertain her condition. J. Dallas Bowers, Jake Padgett and a few other friends have gone on a bear hunt in the wilds of Newnan Lake swamps. The young men have been informed that bear are numerous in the hammock now, having been driven from the low lands and bayous by the recent heavy rains.

The improvements on the corner of North Pleasant and West Orange streets, the Tremont House, have completely transformed the appearance of the building already. The building will receive a thorough application of paint, after which it will appear as one of the most modern buildings in that section of the city.

Work is progressing slowly on the Hill building, corner East Main and Liberty streets, the delay being caused for several reasons. The cornerstone has been laid, the framework is now being erected, and the contractor expects, with fair promptness in the delivery of material, to make good progress from now on. The building will be a marvel when finished, and one of the most up-to-date in the State.

Extensive improvements will soon be made in the Thrasher property, corner West Main and Mechanic streets. The old building, which has been so long a familiar sight to visitors and citizens, will be moved north about thirty feet, and it is understood that a modern brick building will be erected on the corner lot. Another building will be erected in the rear, facing on East Mechanic street, which will be occupied as a pool room by E. H. Waters, now located at the corner of West Main and Mechanic streets.
